

Dr. Gisele Pemberton, DrPH, MPH, CHES

Dr. Pemberton is a public health leader with over two decades of experience building and managing sustainable health and human service programs in North America, Africa, and the Caribbean. Her commitment to public health is rooted in social and economic justice and health equity. Areas of expertise include organizational and systems development, implementation research and science, community engagement, policy advocacy, and culturally competent health services delivery.

Dr. Pemberton is currently employed as the Director, National Center for Training, Support and Technical Assistance at PROCEED, Inc. She is a proud "Tar Heel" and "Scarlet Knight" -- obtaining her doctoral degree in Public Health from the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill and her Master of Public Health from Rutgers University.