

Jatesha "Jaye" Wilson, LPN

Jatesha "Jaye" Wilson, Founding President and CEO of Melinated Moms, is reshaping maternal health for women of color. As a nurse, social impact speaker, maternal health advocate, and mother of two, she empowers women through advocacy, mentorship, and resilience. Jaye's personal journey, from adversity to motherhood, inspires women globally and transforms our perspective on parenting and support. With a background in community health management and advocacy for the LGBT+ community, she understands the power of public engagement in improving overall well-being. Jaye's own experiences, including divorce, led her to create Melinated Moms, a supportive community redefining motherhood and womanhood.
